A welcome from our Director
Stephen Bischoff, Ph.D. | Director Multicultural Student Services

Welcome to a New Semester! My name is Stephen Bischoff, Director for Multicultural Student Services (MSS) on campus. We have many Centers and Programs that make up our core area. We are excited for this new school year and semester. While many things are not the same for the start of this school year given our current health and social environment, our passion and commitment to work with students remains. Whether you are a returning or new student to Washington State University (WSU), we hope that you will connect with our staff along with our respective student leaders. As an alumnus of WSU, I was able to build lifelong friendships, develop my leadership experience, and ultimately learn about myself and others from my own experiences with MSS. It is our goal that our respective Centers and Programs can be a space for community building that focuses on the providing the best undergraduate experience. We invite you to join us in your experience. I look forward to meeting you electronically and in person in the future!

Sincerely,
Stephen Bischoff, Ph.D. Director, Multicultural Student Services Community, Equity, and Social Justice Pillar
Greetings on behalf of the African American Student Center (AASC)! My name is Donna Arnold, Associate Director, for the office of Multicultural Student Services (MSS) and Counselor for the AASC. Originally from Cincinnati Ohio, I consider myself a long-standing member of the WSU/Pullman communities. My hobbies include art, cooking and gardening. I enjoy working here at WSU serving students and being part of a team who is dedicated to student success. The Center is often referred to as "home away from home" and is considered a safe space which is open to all students. If you are looking to get involved the Center is the place to start. This semester we are planning a series of virtual workshops that address social justice issues as it relates to the "black community" on campus, in Pullman and nationally. This series is upcoming and will be announced on our website at aasc.wsu.edu.

Our mission is to provide an environment that is conducive to inspired learning for all students at Washington State University through academic, socio-cultural and career focused services. Although our services are culturally unique to the “Black” community, it is our hope that all members of the university embrace our rich history, language and life style.

Asian-American & Pacific Islander Center (AAPISC)

Mission

The Asian American & Pacific Islander (AAPI) Student Center is committed to provide holistic services and programs that assist Washington State University to retain, develop and assist AAPI students in achieving their highest education potential. The Center is also committed to providing mentorship towards success, leadership development and involvement opportunities, community building, as well as cultural learning and experiences. We support the exploration, education, and celebration of the rich diversity and layered identities within Asian American & Pacific Islander communities.

Dominique Faga'autau
Retention Counselor | Asian American and Pacific Islander Student Center

Dominique J. Faga’aautau aka Dom graduated from Washington State University in 2012 with a B.A. in Comparative Ethnic Studies with a minor in Business Administration and started working for the Office of Multicultural Student Services in the Fall of 2013. He started off as a Program Assistant, Advisor for the Smart Start Program, and moved on to be the Retention Counselor for the Asian American Pacific islander Student Center.

Dom was very involved as a student with the Multicultural Student Services. He was a student mentor for the Multicultural Student Mentor Program, Co-Chair for a Student Led Conference called S.H.A.P.I.N.G and is a brother of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Inc. He is ready to help you and always has a smile on his face. If you have any questions or need help, Dom is here to help!

Jocelin Gallardo is a recent graduate from Washington State University where she graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Human Development with a certification in Adolescence and a minor is Sociology. She has worked with MSS since her undergrad at WSU and looks forward to continuing to be a resource and support for the students.

Mission

Our Mission at the Chicanx Latinx Student Center is to promote academic success and achievement for all students especially those of Latin/Spanish ethnicity, culture, community, heritage and linguistic backgrounds. Therefore, the Center provides academic guidance, programming, professional services, and connections to promote the students’ academic success and personal development. We do this by creating a positive, safe, encouraging, nurturing and professional environment where students take on Personal Responsibility In Developing Excellence (PRIDE). To this end, the Center exists to serve as a support for all students and communities by providing the connections to foster a culturally relevant transition, adjustment, persistence, achievement, and graduation from Washington State University.

Important Notice:

We at Native American Programs (NAP) are dedicated to serving students and recognize the variety of needs our students have. Our office has decided to open for limited hours and for limited services only. The Native American Student Center (NASC) will be open to accommodate student needs on Monday and Tuesday from 8 am - 5pm. These services include printing, internet usage, and grab and go snack bags. The center is not to be used as a student lounge or “hang out” space. Exterior doors to Cleveland Hall will be locked. Therefore, students must arrange a time with Joelle or Steven via email or phone to be let into the building to use services. NAP staff will be available via Zoom or phone for individual meetings with students as requested/needed. Our program will be putting on virtual office hours to provide consistent assistance and social engagement.

Team Mentoring Program (TMP)

What is TMP?

WSU is the home of the Team Mentoring Program (TMP), the recipient of the Presidential Award for Excellence in Science, Mathematics, and Engineering Mentoring (PAESMEM). TMP is a unique mentoring model anchored in the student services side of the university with partnerships with the academic side and private industry. TMP is a multifaceted approach that targets sophomores and transfer students (mentees) linking them with upper level student mentors and faculty mentors in a team atmosphere. The program addresses the full range of areas that impact undergraduate success: academics and the STEM culture, research opportunities, internship and career preparation, and a community of support that welcomes, validates, and affirms them in their STEM identity. This year, an outstanding group of student (24) and faculty (18) mentors, from multiple disciplines, are ready and engaging mentees in support of the accomplishment of their educational goals. To learn more please visit us at www.tmp.wsu.edu.
